New Attack By First Army On Siegfried Line

Attack Unleashed In Vicinity Of Embattled Aachen Says Correspondent

AIM OF ASSAULT IS TO REACH RHINE

By NED CALMER
(CBS Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FIRST Army, Near Siegfried Line, Oct. 2.—The American First Army has launched a new assault against the Siegfried Line and, according to all indications, that assault will not cease until we've reached the Rhine.

This morning, after two weeks of preparation, the attack was unleashed in the vicinity of embattled Aachen. A little over four hours ago, one of the most concentrated artillery barrages ever laid down was directed against the German anti-aircraft batteries in the Aachen area.

Bombers Strike

Then a great force of tactical bombers—estimated at 400 or more—struck for 30 minutes at a comparatively small section of the Siegfried line itself. Results were good. And because the artillery had done its job so well, there was little flak to disturb the bombers. So far as we could see, watching the bombers go in, the enemy put up no fighters to oppose them.

After our bombers, our fighter bombers went in to crush what enemy resistance remained in that section of the line. And just two hours ago our infantry began pouring into the gap created by the air and artillery assaults.

There has been no moment since we landed in North Africa when American troops have been better prepared or equipped to score a victory, and this one may well mark the last phase of the war in western Europe.

PA NEWC Observes

One Pa Newc harvested a nice picking of green beans on October 1 from a late planting of a bush variety.

October came in like a summer day. Puck benches were occupied Sunday afternoon, much the same as though it had been the middle of July. Sunday was surely a fine fall day.

This is the last week to be registered for the November election, if you are not properly enrolled to vote.

Coffee drinkers were relieved from the uncertainty of another rationing the beverage today, when Washington announcement said that there will be no resumption of rationing of the sale of coffee.

Pheasants seem to be quite numerous in this locality. Pa Newc noted four male pheasants along the road near the city on Sunday afternoon.

Censors can't be quite as tough as they have been pointed. At least one naval censor in the South Pacific was helpful. A local lad had written home and among other things said he had seen a famous actress perform for the troops but he didn't remember her name. The censor added, "It was Judith Anderson."

Nazis Are Hopeful Of Securing Some Bad Weather Aid

By MAJOR PAUL C. KARBORG
(Written Especially for N.S.S.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—On Sunday it was reported that the Germans were counter-attacking fiercely from the south end of their western line to Holland in the north.

In Holland, the Nazis launched a tank and infantry assault which crossed the Tanneersch canal to the south of Huissen where it was stopped by the British, but not until it had gained some ground. The American first army operating in the vicinity of Aachen brought to a halt a vicious German counter-attack accompanied by flame-throwers. General Patton's third army in the Nancy-Metz area repulsed still another German armored attack.

Heavy Fighting In Fifth Army Sector In Italy

Desperate German Efforts Made To Halt Advance Through Gothic Line Defense

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Oct. 2.—Heavy fighting raged on the American Fifth Army sector of the Italian front as Nazi Marshal Kesselring hurled continued desperate counter-attacks against the American Fifth Army's shattered Gothic line for Imola. The German leader reached near the bottom of the barrel to find men smash against the American drive which threatens to flank and envelop German forces facing the British Eighth Army on the Adriatic flank of the Italian front.

Fierce Fighting

Particularly fierce fighting blazed about strategic Mount Battaglia as American troops drove back German counter-assaults in strength.

American forces in this sector took a tighter grip on their positions in the Apennine Heights near Battaglia by capturing and consolidating positions on Mount Capella, two miles west of Mount Battaglia, which dominates the Imola road leading through the German positions and on to the Po valley.

On the British sector of the Italian front, Eighth Army troops crossed and recrossed the Fiumicino river in heavy fighting.

German defenders holding the northern bank of the stream in strength counterattacked vigorously as British forces strove to establish bridgeheads at various points along the river.

Kills Girl, Wounds Her Parents, Then Commits Suicide

JUNEAU, Wis., Oct. 2.—(INS)—Authorities investigating the slaying of a farm girl and the serious wounding of her parents by a former suttor today ascribed the shootings to jealousy.

Central figures in the tragedy were Virginia Reusser, 22, and Leo Budzbanowski, of Stevens Point, a discharged veteran of World War II who took his own life after killing the girl and firing three bullets into each of her parents.

After the shootings, Budzbanowski forced a 14-year-old sister of Virginia's to accompany him to a nearby farm where he worked. He killed himself as sheriff's forces closed in on him.

Russian Troops Surging Ahead Through Serbia

Advance Threatens Germans In Lower Balkans With Entrapment

BATTLING INSIDE HUNGARY, REPORT

By NATALIA RENE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—Russian troops surged through the mountains of northeastern Serbia today and at last reports were within 43 miles of the Belgrad-Nis railway, main way out for some 200,000 Germans threatened with entrapment in the lower Balkans.

Although the Soviet communiqué did not mention the fighting, a Romanian statement said Russian and Romanian forces were battling inside Hungary, withstanding several German-Hungarian counter-attacks.

An unconfirmed Hungarian dispatch via Turkey said Russian and Romanian units have crashed 22 miles into southeastern Hungary. A Budapest communiqué officially acknowledged Russian gains but did not comment on their extent.

80 Miles From Belgrade

The Second Ukrainian army (which, according to Berlin, has pushed 30,000 men into Yugoslavia near the Romanian city of Turnu-Severin) was reported in Moscow to be 80 miles east of Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, with Marshal Tito's Partisans leading the way.

One Red spearhead has moved southwest in the advance toward Nis, important and strategic meeting place of railways connecting with Belgrade, Sofia and Salonika. This column captured Vozragovac, 50 miles northeast of Nis, after skirting the Timok river, a tributary of the Danube.

Vozragovac is 23 miles beyond Negotin, most southern point reached by the Russians in previous reports and is situated on a railway spur which turns westward to meet the Nis-Belgrade line in the Morava valley at Paracin, some 43 miles away.

As matters stand, the Russians have a north-south front of many miles.

Shrine Ceremony Attracts Through

Colorful Parade For Public Is Followed By Initiation Ceremonies At Cathedral

Syrina Shriners, of Western Pennsylvania, took over the city for a short time Saturday afternoon, when they were the center of attraction as they staged their colorful parade, which preceded the initiation of 150 candidates from the local district, followed by a banquet and entertainment in The Cathedral.

The parade, which moved out from South Croton avenue at 2:30 o'clock, proceeded to Washington street, and then west on Washington street to The Diamond, turning north to Lincoln avenue on Jefferson street, and disbanding at The Cathedral.

Ill. Potentate Artemus C. Leslie and his staff of officers drew humorous jibes from the Shrine members along the line of march, when they appeared in the parade, riding in old buggies which were secured from the rural sections. They were attired in their picturesque Arabian costumes.

Attract Attention

The Shrine band and patrol also attracted considerable attention as they appeared in the parade in Arabian costume.

Some of the youth of the city profited financially as a result of the parade, for whenever a group appeared, generally in the vicinity of the patrol, money was scattered into the street, and the youths scrambled for it, about the legs of the marchers.

The novices, or candidates, rode in big farm wagons where they were also the center of attraction.

After arriving at The Cathedral, the candidates were put through their paces for the edification of the membership, treading the desert sands to the Holy City.

Following the banquet, served in buffet style, a fine program of entertainment was presented.

Lawrence Caravan, 15, of Lawrence County, who were hosts, were complimented for the splendid arrangements of the day, by Ill. Potentate Leslie, President John H. Dittmer and his committees having worked hard to make the event the success it turned out to be.

Probe Fires In Slippery Rock District Schools

Hogue School Is Destroyed And Aiken School Damaged By Weekend Fires

STATE POLICE ARE PROBING MYSTERY

Two Slippery Rock township schools were afire over the weekend, one being completely destroyed and the other badly damaged. Aiken school on the Princeton road caught fire mysteriously about 2:30 Sunday morning, and firemen worked until 4:30 before the blaze was extinguished. The Hogue school, catching fire under equally mysterious circumstances, burned to the ground Sunday night.

According to Shenango firemen, who were called out to the Aiken school fire, about $900 worth of damage was done to the building and the supplies. No fires had been left in either school when they were closed for the week-end.

At the Aiken school, one window had been forced open, and the fire had been started in some bookcase in the corner, by the window. Flames crept up the walls and into the attic in one corner.

At the Hogue school, the piano had been pushed over in front of the door.

State police are investigating the mystery in the fires as they appear to have been of incendiary origin.

The schools are both one-room buildings, located about four or five miles apart. Approximately 17 or 20 children attend each of them. Aiken pupils will probably return to classes by Thursday, according to school directors J. A. McElmoynd and Charles Mersheimer. No arrangements have yet been made for the Hogue students.

YANKS RIP INTO BELFORT GAP

Fiercely fighting Yank and French infantrymen have broken into the Belfort Gap (1) on the historic southwestern invasion to Germany. Meanwhile, Gen. Patton's tank destroyers caught a large number of Nazi tanks pulling back from the line east of Nancy (2) and knocked out at least 82, the biggest one-day bag since D-Day. North of Metz, the 1st U. S. Army captured the town of Remich (3), 11 miles southeast of Luxembourg city. Further north, the British Second Army widened its salient north of Nijmegen (4) to about ten miles. Pushing westward from their salient in Holland, Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group threaten to cut off 300,000 Germans.

Morell Given 6 To 12 Years

Patton's Forces Drive Nazis Out Of Prison Term Of Grevenmacher

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 2.—(INS)—William A. Morell today was sentenced to 6 to 12 years in Western Penitentiary on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Helen Wilson, one of three persons who met violent death on the Everitt Wilson farm last October 7.

The 21-year-old orphan boy, who was the state's chief witness in an attempt to send his erstwhile sweetheart, Janice Graham, to the electric chair for the slayings, thus far was the only person to be convicted in the "slayings" deaths. He was tried last December.

Morell Silent

Janice, 21-year-old domestic, was found not guilty of three counts of first degree murder which had been placed against her.

Judge George H. Rowley asked Morell today if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, and Morell simply replied: "No."

The jurist said the sentence was (Continued on Page Two)

Attacks Begun On Widely Separated Sectors Of Front

Action Develops In Holland; Along Moselle; And Near Belfort Gap

HUGE ARTILLERY BARRAGE PRECEDES

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Oct. 2.—Allied forces swung into action on widely-separated sectors of the western front today, with every sign pointing to early opening of a large-scale offensive.

The attacks were made in Holland, along the Moselle river and close to the approaches of the Belfort gap that leads into the Rhineland.

EDITOR'S NOTE: An NBC battlefront broadcast said that the United States First Army of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges had launched its "big push" to the Rhine and is pouring through a new breach carved into the Siegfried line in the Aachen area.

Gigantic Barrage

The Paris radio reported a gigantic Allied artillery barrage all along the western front.

This avalanche of shells is increasing by the hour and a large-scale offensive appears imminent, Paris said.

In Holland, troops of Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's Second Army slashed north and east from their corridor strengthened their positions in the Eindhoven-Nijmegen area.

The British cleared the Germans from the banks of the River Maas west of Nijmegen and stood firm against Nazi counterattacks from the northeast aimed at recapture of the vital Nijmegen bridge.

These British forces drove north of the town of Oss, 15 miles from Nijmegen, and widened the base of their salient.

A spokesman for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower broadcast a warning to inhabitants of islands in the Scheldt estuary to leave their homes.

Infantry-tank assault teams lanced three and a half miles through Nazi positions to clear German forces from the entire forest of Grevenmächter and place the command high ground north of Malaucourt and Gallucourt in American hands.

Nazi Panzers Retreat

After heavy fighting American armor routed Nazi Panzers, and the Germans retreated, leaving their casualties on the field.

Further south the battle for the Parroy forest continued without pause with German forces striving to hold the American attack in check by the lavish use of artillery. Thus far, however, the steady pressure applied by combined infantry and armor units.

On the remainder of the Third Army front, light sporadic action flared from the region west of Dieuze to 20 miles east of Nancy.

Allied invasion and to cover an attempted Nazi thrust against the British Isles. But unlike the ill-starred plans at Stenay, these obviously were built on round-tables for the moment that Allied troops surged into Antwerp, the Germans turned them around to control the whole Scheldt estuary.

If Gen. Eisenhower's bomber command is able to reduce these fortifications from the air without the necessity of diverting ground troops now being massed for concentrated attack, the task of Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British Second Army will be vastly facilitated.

homes and proceed inland. There is every likelihood that a severe and prolonged aerial bombardment of the area will be carried out shortly.

Nazi Attack Hurdled Back

Northeast of Nijmegen a determined German counter-attack launched by armored and infantry forces was hurled back by British units.

In Belgium, west of Turnhout, combat teams of the Canadian First Army pressed farther forward overrunning the villages of Brecht and Merxplas after a three-mile advance.

Intense combat patrol activity marked the fighting on the American First Army sector of the western front from Aachen to southeastern Luxembourg as small Yank units jabbed at German defenses in search of a soft spot.

International News Service Correspondent Pierre J. Hux reported from the American Third Army front that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's armored and infantry forces had seized the city of Grevenmächter, on the border between Luxembourg and Germany, after smashing heavy blows at defending German forces.

Destroying 19 German tanks along their front, the Third Army armored-infantry combat teams smashed the Nazis from Grevenmächter with overwhelming firepower. Stiff local resistance from Nazi troops was broken, and the German forces withdrew into the Reich.

Clear Nazi Units

Fourteen miles northeast of Nancy tanks and infantry of the Third Army cleared all Nazi units from the forest of Grevenmächter, in local fighting. The Yank forces drove ahead in a three-and-a-half-mile gain to seize and consolidate strategic high ground north of Malaucourt and Gallucourt.

A strong German counter thrust in the area of Jallucourt was smashed back.

On the southern flank, of the sector of doughboys driving forward against strong opposition carved out local gains in Nazi positions.

In this region, near Epinal, strong artillery duels were fought across the lines.

An American advance some 10 miles east of Epinal brought the town of St. Jean Du March into our hands.

Along the Atlantic coast the mopping up of captured Calais was completed by Canadian troops which took the vital port.

The total bag of prisoners taken in the fall of Calais has passed the 7,000 mark. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced in his official communiqué.

The German Transocean agency reported that the American Third and Seventh Armies had launched large attacks in the Lorraine Gap and south through the Vosges to the Belfort Gap, adding that the American assaults were being pressed with mounting ferocity.

No official confirmation of the new offensives was forthcoming from supreme Allied headquarters or from headquarters of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., or Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding the Third and Seventh Armies.

miles inside Yugoslavia and must push through high mountains to reach the Marava valley and Belgrade.

The Hungarian drive was described by an Ankara broadcast as a softening up push in anticipation of an all-out assault now in the making. The broadcast declared that Budapest was "nervously tense" over the Red invasion and that a town only 15 miles east of Szeged, second largest city of Hungary, had been taken by the Soviets. Budapest added that the Russian forces were "far superior" to the defending legions.

World War I, fighting from November to spring was decreased by perhaps 90 per cent.

Modern war as fought in the 1940's has to a great extent mastered weather. Stalin's armies have performed miracles in both winter and mud. The allies in Burma have fought through a monsoon season which was never done before.

Allies Are Missing

The news seems to intimate, the popular opinion believes, that the allied armies in the west are massing men and supplies for a great offensive action. That is probably more than true, but Hitler and his general staff know what difficulties bad weather can add to such an offensive.

First, as to the mountains. Your author has been in practically every portion of Germany's western defense system. He served with two different American front line divisions in the St. Die sector of the Vosges mountains. There are few more difficult battlegrounds in the world. His last service in World War I was in command of a machine gun battalion facing Metz, where Patton's third army is now fighting. His leave recreation was taken in Nancy. He has been at Strasbourg. On one occasion after the armistice he went to Cologne through Belgium, via Namur, Liege and Aachen. That is the easiest route of approach. On another he went to Cologne via Namur, Luxembourg and Trier. That's right thru the mountains.

Germany's western mountains are one of the best natural defense systems in the world. If the Nazis fight in defense of those mountains the combat will be desperate.

have been won by the American forces in the course of the 16 day operation in the Palau during which more than 10,000 Japanese were killed.

Headquarters said, however, that isolated enemy forces are still resisting bitterly from caves on "Bloody Nose Ridge" on Peleliu and the "elimination of remnants" of Japanese defenders continues.

Big Bombs Dropped

In an effort to dislodge stubborn enemy units on the encircled island, numerous 1,000 pound bombs were dropped by planes of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing, headquarters said.

It was also disclosed that several unnamed islands have been secured by American forces and immediate invasion plans of huge United air patrols. Two enemy aircraft failed to do damage in an attack on American shipping off Halmahera.

Timor was lashed by bombs and machine-gun attacks, while other Banda Islands were assailed. Supply and troop installations were blasted at Wewak and a barge was sunk by light naval units off Noemfoor Island.

Attack-bombers and fighters dropped 46 tons of explosives on Uaratom, Babo, Samate and Manokwari in the Vogelkop area of New Guinea. Medium and light bombers attacked occupied points in New Ireland. A motor pool was hit in the Rabaul area of New Britain. Medium and light bombers blasted enemy positions in the Shortland Islands, in southern Bougainville and Numanuma.

Business Speed

Lord Rothermere's newspaper, the London Daily Mail, recently emitted a long and loud protest over what is declared to be an attempt of American businessmen to sneak a lead on renewing old business connections and make new ones in France.

It said that American businessmen clad in army officers' uniforms are being flown to England, thence to France, where they are active in humiliatory endeavors. At the same time, it said, British businessmen wait in vain for permission to enter France.

The American people will, of course, deplore this following of the invasion army by their businessmen. But they will not overlook the Mail's implication that Americans were only doing what British men were trying to do. Nor is it likely that any American will be reduced to a state of great unhappiness by the hint that in the race for French business, the American businessmen are not lagging in the rear.

Allied supreme headquarters thought enough of the Mail's charge to state that for some time there had been a ban against businessmen entering the military forward zone, and that some three weeks ago an order against civilians starting business in the liberated areas was issued.
This should set at rest any suspicion that business rivalry may disturb the good relations of the United States and Great Britain.

But there is in the incident a forecast of the speed and zeal with which businessmen will seek new markets when the war is over. New markets mean more business, more jobs, more ability to pay the money cost of the war, America will be there when the time is right.

Decisive Battle

What may be the decisive battle of the war is being fought along the Rhine river. It is decisive because Germany will be doomed if the attacking Allies break through. That the Germans are putting everything into the defense is indicated by the toughness of the battle.

It is up to the British to turn the right flank of the German defense line. The Americans are farther to the south and face far tougher terrain.
It was the American Army that broke the deadlock in France by crashing through the left wing of the Nazis. Now it is the turn of the British to crash either around or through the right end of the Nazi defense line on the German border. They are increasing the pressure on the Germans day by day, with the outcome still indecisive.

Send That Package Now

This is a good time to remind parents, wives, friends and relatives of service men that for all practical purposes there are only 11 more mailing days before Christmas.

The deadline for sending Christmas packages to men and women serving overseas is October 15. This is one time limit that must not be missed. The Postoffice department, the Army and the Navy will turn handicrafts to get Christmas packages into the hands of our fighting men, no matter where they are, in time for Christmas Day.

But it constitutes an enormous task in which the co-operation of the people at home is absolutely essential. There can be nothing sadder than a soldier or sailor on Christmas Day without an expected package from home, with all about him receiving theirs.

At best the fighting man's Christmas can't be exactly a merry
one. We must not let it be a completely unhappy one.

Yankee Fighters

One of the highlights of this conflict is the emergence of the American soldier as the top fighter of the war. Stack him up against the Russians, the Germans, the British or any of them and he still shines.

A few American observers in Tunisia were disposed to be apologetic a couple of years ago. One of them rated both the British and the Germans ahead of the Americans there, saying that the Yank wasn't yet inoculated with the war spirit. They soon changed their tune and presently Patton was on his dash through Sicily and an American corps was making its epic stand at Salerno.

The American is a perfectionist in all phases of war. He can stand and take it against odds, at Bataan, Guadalcanal and Tarawa, or he can astound the world with the speed and overwhelming power of the offensive, as in France.

And as a war progresses, the better the Yank fighter becomes.
In World War I the Yanks were leading the parade into Germany when the armistice called a halt. The American hates war and the longer it lasts, the more determined he is to get it over.

The Germans know now that they are up against something in the form of implemented, exceedingly able and intrepid fighters that they have not hitherto encountered. The Japs, too, are learning that same lesson in the Pacific school of hard knocks.

They Carry The News

"Neither heat nor storm nor rain nor gloom of night keep these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

This is the motto of the Postoffice department, whose couriers, whether they go on foot or ride the clouds, must see that the mail gets through—unless there is a picket line. But there are other, more humble, messengers whose service is as important and whose fidelity is as great.
The newboys of America.

Newsboys, too, go their appointed rounds no matter what the weather. Through the heat of summer and the cold of winter, in rain and blizzard, they bring to nearly every home the story of the day's happenings. They have a pride in the regularity of their service, and a "skip" is a far greater blow to them than to the subscriber.

Newsboys have their own code, one that is beneficial to them in later years. Many of America's most distinguished citizens have "carried papers" in their boyhood, and all pay tribute to this early training on punctuality and responsibility.

For these reasons, the press of America pays tribute to newsboys.
If it were not for them, the great network of correspondents throughout the world, the reportorial and editorial staffs, the composers and the pressmen, would have labored in vain. The final essential process would be lacking—the service of delivering the completed newspapers to the readers.

It is proper that one day should be set aside during this National Newspaper Week to celebrate the part played in a great industry by these faithful couriers whose contribution to public enlightenment is too often overlooked.

Von Rundstedt has been reassigned to the Western Front, Hitler has decided that his intuition is entirely outclassed.

Washington Calling

Argument Against Fourth Term Seen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Perhaps the most effective argument against the fourth term is the long continuance in power of one set of officeholders. This is contrary to deep-seated American tradition.

The argument applies not so strongly to the national administration as it does to state and local regimes which would be returned to power with a Roosevelt sweep. Nationally, it seems to me a sound case can be made for continuity of policy in carrying out all the negotiations that are now presumably leading to a stable world order.

But government at that high altitude doesn't touch the average citizen. He knows how well the public schools are run and how thoroughly the garbage is collected. And he knows whether he is treated courteously when he goes to city hall to pay his taxes.

Slackness Follows

Many cities in the key states are still lamed in Democratic hands even though the state governments have fallen to the GOP. They've been Democratic for 12 years or longer. Inevitably, a certain slackness follows such long tenure. The officeholder develops the idea that he's there by divine right, and any opposition is an affront to all that's good and holy.

I've seen an example of that in the county in Maryland in which I live. There is a local Democratic boss and a ring of officeholders who give us a reasonably decent, but probably pretty expensive form of government. It's on the antiquated side, linking up with the state legislature in such a way that local ordinances have to be approved at Annapolis.

What happens when a group of citizens—Republicans and Democrats alike—try to bring this local government up to the times is revealing. An active nonpartisan committee is working for adoption in November of a charter form of government which would cut costs and make the county administration more responsive to local needs.

Patronage Dispensers Battle

The little ring of patronage dispensers is fighting this tooth and toenail. Because they haven't any very potent arguments—except the desire to stay on the public payrolls—they try to make the charter proposal sound like some sinister innovation.

The truth is that in many cities and in some counties, the manager form of government has worked with marked success. In Cincinnati an outstanding example, Charles P. Taft led a movement that finally toppled the bosses and put the city's administration on a sound, efficient basis.

The local Democratic organization in my county went so far as to send several thousand letters to men from the county in the armed forces. This form letter would be laughable if it weren't such an insult to the intelligence. It hints that an effort is being made to change the government in some slightly alien and devious fashion. All this, while the boys are away.

Sillier Argument

An even sillier argument is that the change would freeze qualified civil servants in their jobs, and so when the boys come home, they wouldn't be able to get work with the county. The actual number of jobs is, of course, infinitesimally small in comparison with the men who will be seeking work. Incidentally, it would be interesting to know how the Democratic organization obtained the lists of soldier voters, complete with serial numbers.

This is the kind of thing the average voter, and especially the independent voter, can see and understand. I wonder how many times this same situation could be duplicated around the country. You think immediately, of course, of Boss Frank Hague of Jersey City and his ruthless way with any opposition that dares to pop up its head.

It's a handicap Roosevelt carries in this race. The bosses may be able to deliver the votes, but they anger the independent citizen who cherishes the inalienable right to "turn the rascals out."

What People Say

LONDON—Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary: "We have information that the German general staff, recognizing the inevitability of defeat in this war, already is thinking in terms of the next."

ALBANY—Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee: "The dictators have given the world a bitter and bloody demonstration that government tyranny is still the greatest enemy of free press and speech."

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS AEF—Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery: "There can be few episodes more glorious than the epic of Arnhem."

PHILADELPHIA—Clare Boothe Luce, Republican congresswoman: "On Nov. 8 there will be nothing left for Mr. Hillman to clear but his throat."

Hints On Etiquette

If you have young daughters, teach them not to giggle, laugh or push each other, when passing young men on the street. It is a very annoying habit and extremely bad taste.

Evacuate 700 Natives Under Noses Of Japs

By SGT. WILLIAM C. HARRIS
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

(Distributed by International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS—(Delayed)—

In one of the most unusual feats of the war, the U. S. Navy recently evacuated 700 civilian natives from under the noses of the Japanese.

Accomplished at night, the evacuation must have been a mortifying surprise to the nearby Japanese garrison of several thousand soldiers and Korean laborers. Men, women and children, along with their poultry and pigs, were moved off the atoll by two small U. S. warships.

More than 700 native Micronesians were liberated in the daring operation, which was carried out under the direction of Lt. Eugene F. Bogart, of Washington, D. C., civil affairs officer for the area.

One family remains.

Only one family consisting of a man, his wife and their baby elected to remain on the island, which has been bombed from the sea and air almost continuously since early in January. Today Wotje remains one of the most bombed places in the world, sharing that distinction with three other by-passed Marshall bases—Mile, Jaluit and Malakal.

Here's how the natives were evacuated:

Two small warships slipped into the lagoon of Erikub atoll, about six miles from Wotje. Aboard were several natives who had previously escaped unassisted.

The natives were lowered in their outrigger canoes from the two ships and unfurled their little sails about the size of table cloths. In the dark they skimmed over the Wotje reef.

Landing on the village beach, they slipped from hut to hut, arousing their kinsmen and advising them that the Americans were on Erikub, ready and willing to remove them to a haven free from bombing. Quickly but silently the 700 rolled up their mats and gathered their poultry and pigs. These, together with the women and children, were dumped in the tiny outriggers.

The silent flotilla tacked straight into the Erikub lagoon. At daylight, the women and children and the infirm were hauled aboard the warships. The outriggers were tied together in a long line and the foremost was lashed to the mother ship. Then, through the channel and out into the open sea went the strangest convoy ever seen in the Marshalls. After a long journey, the human cargo was pulled ashore on the beach of another atoll, where they received a resounding welcome from hundreds of other Marshallese so recently freed of the Nipponese yoke.

Later the natives, through their numerous kings, told the American authorities they desired to stage a great celebration to commemorate their liberation and to express their appreciation for the kindness of the Americans.

I witnessed this celebration, which consisted of intricate dances, with singing choruses, each dance created to depict various scenes of their subjugation by the Japs, the enemy's cruelty, the coming of the Americans and the killing of the enemy.

ARMY AIR FORCE

Plane Losses In War Reach 42,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS)—General H. H. Arnold, announced today that the army air forces has lost 42,000 airplanes since Pearl Harbor—14,000 of them on combat missions overseas.

In return for this loss, the AAF chief reported, the air force has destroyed more than 27,000 enemy planes, probably destroyed 6,000 more and damaged about 10,000.

In addition to army aircraft lost in combat, Arnold disclosed that 9,900 planes were destroyed overseas from other than combat causes, and that 17,500 planes were lost in the Continental United States.

Arnold made the plane losses public in announcing that the AAF had dropped a million tons of bombs on enemy targets up to September 28, in the air war against Germany and Japan.

Detailed information on the construction and operation of septic tanks is found in the circular "Septic Tanks for the Farm." This circular is available at the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

POTATO STORAGE ROOMS SHOULD BE THOROUGHLY DRY

Potato growers who have special storage places should remember that these places should be thoroughly dried before being used for the fall crop of tubers.

Storage rooms should have had both front and back doors left open during summer months so the inside could dry completely before putting in the new crop. The straw-lift type needs this drying more than some other types.

Windows or doors should be provided at both ends of the building to let air circulate over the insulation. These upper vents are left open during the winter season to help remove some of the moisture that would ordinarily condense and make the potatoes wet.

GOOD BREAKFAST VITAL TO EVERYONE'S LIVING

Eat a good breakfast and start the day right. Every man, woman and child needs a good breakfast in order to do his best work, maintain health, and promote growth.

Fruit, cereal, bread of some kind, beverage, eggs, bacon, ham, sausage and apple are excellent foods for breakfast. The kind and the amount of food each person eats for the first meal of the day depends on his age and activity. Persons doing heavy manual work will require more food than those doing light work.

Fruits whet the appetite for the rest of the meal. Oranges, grapefruit, tomato juice, or fresh fruits in season are especially good for breakfast.

Ready-cooked or prepared cereals often are preferred for breakfast on warm days while a hot cooked cereal usually is more appealing on cold days. Choose whole grain and enriched or restored cereals in order to get the extra B vitamins and minerals they contain.

An egg for breakfast is an easy way to get that one egg a day. Eggs, bacon, ham, sausage, or scrapple stay by a person and he doesn't get that mid-morning slump.

Legion Works For Military Training During Peacetime

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS)—The American Legion planned today to push legislation for universal military training of American youths in peacetime.

This was reported by Edward N. Scheiberling, Legion national commander, who conferred with President Roosevelt in connection with the organization's legislative program which also calls for pensions for widows and orphans of all war veterans.

The Legion has not yet drawn up definite proposals for the final form of its peacetime military training program, Scheiberling said, but specifies that every "qualified young male" should be included.

Nazis Order Officers To Desert Their Men

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—A captured document of the German high command discloses that officers of the Nazi army have been ordered to desert their men and save themselves for "a future struggle." James Cassidy, reporter the National Broadcasting company and station WLW, Cincinnati, O., with the U. S. first army, said in a broadcast from inside Germany today.

Cassidy said the document instructed German troops to "fight to the last man" even if such a sacrifice was "apparently senseless," and told their officers to forego tradition and save themselves.

It is of paramount importance, the document said, that the German officer corps be saved for the reconstruction of the fatherland.

Shenango Firemen Have Busy Weekend

Five fires made the past week end unusually busy for the Shenango fire department. Three of the calls were in Hickory township, one in South New Castle borough, and one the Alken school fire in Slippery Rock township.

That record will make the rural observance of Fire Prevention week from October 8 to 14, even more timely, according to Edward Dean, fire chief. During the past year the average for barns burned or damaged by fire was 110 a day throughout the country.

Shenango firemen will meet in the fire hall Wednesday evening, October 4 at 8 o'clock, to plan for the organization of a Lawrence county association of firemen. The regular meeting of the Shenango group will take place Friday evening, October 6, when several items of business will be taken up.

Moccasins Will Be Rationed Foot-Wear

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS)—OPA today classified as rationed footwear the types of leather-soled moccasins that because of their construction is of the house-slipper class and previously were imported and sold ration-free.

The action continues OPA's policy of putting imported and domestic footwear on the same rationing basis, the agency said. It will apply to all future imports and sales but will not affect shoes already on the market in this country.

Newspapers Of State Are Hailed Detroit Baby Being Hunted

Important Part Being Played In War Effort Pointed Out By State Leaders

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—(INS)—
State officials headed by Gov. Edward Martin were joined by businessmen today in hailing the wartime services of Pennsylvania's newspapers at the start of National Newspaper Week.

George J. Mead of the Erie Daily Times will direct the activities in the state for the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' association which he heads. He will be aided by R.
M. Barton of the Duncannon Record, vice-president, and William N.
Hardy of Harrisburg, manager.

"On the home front," said Gov-nor Martin, "the newspapers truly constitute the first line of defense.
Good government has no more powerful ally than the free press which we are privileged to enjoy."

He praised publishers and editorial employees alike for their services and for meeting wartime problems.

"Despite shortages of newsprint, manpower and equipment they continue to give freely and generously to every activity which is helping the United Nations in our drive to victory over the enemies of civilization."

Taken For Granted

George P. Gable of Altoona, president of the Pennsylvania Retailers' Association, congratulated newspapers for aiding war bond campaigns and related programs as well as informing the public of changing commodity controls and other war time restrictions.

"Most people are perhaps prone to take the newspapers, like retail stores, for granted," Gable stated.
"This may be the most eloquent of all tributes to your indispensability.
It means that the newspaper is so integrated with our daily life as to become almost a part of ourselves."

Col. Richard K. Mellon, state selective service director, commended newspapers for the "exemplary manner" in which they handled the war effort while Secretary of Labor and Industry William H. Clegg said
"without the free press, victory would not be possible."

Police Believe Four Month Old Baby Kidnaped By Young
Housemaid

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(INS)—A cab driver today gave police their first break in their search for four months old Robert James King, who was believed kidnaped by Helen Rosman, 18-year-old housemaid.

The driver, Raymond Watkins, 44, told police he picked up a girl and a baby in front of the Family theatre Saturday night and drove to an apartment at 14th and Hazelwood. Police set out to search the apartment.

Watkins said the girl and baby answered perfectly the descriptions of the missing persons, down to the last piece of clothing.

Police studied the possibility that the girl had an accomplice.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence King, the child's parents, returned from a movie at 1 a. m. Sunday to find their baby and maid gone. They had left the child in the girl's care.

The Kings told police the maid had asked to leave the door unlocked and the porch light on so a girl friend could come in to help her pass the time.

Only 25 Per Cent Of Workers Would Receive Benefit

Manufacturers Head Says Suspension Of 'Little Steel Formula' Would Benefit Only Few

By EARLE MARCKRES
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Robert M. Gaylord, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, charged today that suspension of the "Little Steel" wage formula would benefit only 25 per cent of the nation's workers whose pay increases would be borne by the general public through higher taxes.

Testifying before the War Labor board, Gaylord said the majority of industries would be forced to increase prices under labor's proposals because of the "squeeze" between the Treasury's 95 per cent excess profits tax and the government's price stabilization program.

"If a general wage increase should be authorized it will not come out of the pockets of industry so long as management is caught between a 95 per cent tax and fixed prices," he said. "It will come out of the pocket of the public."

Gaylord's appearance marked industry's closing arguments before WLB in opposition to organized labor's demands for abandonment of the "Little Steel" wage formula which limits pay boosts to 15 per cent of the January 1, 1941 level.

CIO and AFL representatives are scheduled to appear at today's session to present rebuttal testimony.
Union officials have repeatedly contended that Bureau of Labor statistics and CIO-AFL cost of living studies reveal purported increases ranking up to 43.5 per cent since January 1, 1941 and warrant suspension of the "Little Steel" wage plan.

Two Armed Youths Are Captured After Wounding Patrolman

State Highway Patrolman Wounded In Shoulder As He Stops Car For Questioning

BEDFORD, Pa., Oct. 2.—(INS)—An Army deserter and another Pittsburgh youth were being held by state police today after one of them allegedly admitted shooting a policeman.

The state trooper, Charles Kenneth Pentz, 29, of Clearfield county, was in Timmons hospital, Bedford, with a bullet wound in his left shoulder. His condition was not regarded as critical.

The two suspects are Peter Benjamin Reilly, 20, and William Sackchak, 19, also known as William Sackchak.

Pentz said that when he halted a speeding automobile on Route 30 near Bedford, the youths climbed out and one fired a revolver.

They leaped back in the car and drove away as the wounded officer fired several shots.

Two hours later, after Pentz suffering from loss of blood had given up the chase, other state policemen arrested Reilly and Sackchak.

Authorities said that they found money hidden in the automobile, which, they said, had been stolen in Jersey City, N. J.

Sgt. Charles W. Grein said Reilly, who was reported AWOL last April 28, admitted firing the shot that wounded Pentz. Both youths were armed, the sergeant said.

The Christmas tree is said to have been introduced into the British Isles when Albert came to England in 1840 to wed Queen Victoria.

Jackie Cooper Awaits Decision

Court To Give Decision On Charges Against Former Movie Star Early This Week

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 2.—(INS)—Jackie Cooper, 22-year old former movie star, will learn late today or early tomorrow whether he and three others are guilty or not guilty of charges of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls.

Juvenile Referee Albert L. Doyle, who heard testimony from Cooper and his co-defendants last Friday and Saturday, announced at the conclusion of the hearing that he would give his decision early this week.

Cooper is a V-12 naval trainee at Notre Dame University.

The charge against him, a fellow trainee, George Bender, of Sheffield, Ill. Pauline Frederick, 19, of South Bend, and Otis Lowry, Negro waiter, grew out of a party which the first three attended with two young girls. Lowry allegedly served liquor to the girls.

All denied the charges.

It found guilty of the delinquency charge, the four face sentences as high as six months in jail and $500 fine.

NOT MUCH TIME LEFT

There are few hours left to get registered to vote. The final day for registration or change of address is Saturday night, October 7, at six o'clock. After that the lists are closed for the November election.

For the accommodation of citizens the Registration Bureau in the Boyles Annex at the court house will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights until 9 o'clock. On Saturday, the last day, the office will close at six o'clock.

There has been a marked increase in registration the past week. Not all of the people presenting themselves at the registration office need to register. Cards have been mailed out to many people advising them they are not registered. In many cases the people have taken the trouble to go to the registration bureau, only to find there is nothing wrong with their registration.

These cards state the registration lists have been checked.

If the statement means the official registration lists it is in error, according to Earl R. Wimer, chairman of the county commissioners and the elections board. "No one has checked the registration lists," said Mr. Wimer. "Where the information was received in the cases where the registrations are valid, I do not know. The card comes from a committee, and does not come from any person connected with the court house. We regret the inconvenience occasioned many voters who made the trip to the court house for nothing, but the matter is one of which we know nothing."

An easy test for any voter who is uncertain as to whether or not he is registered is this, "did you vote within the past two years. If you did not, you got a card in January notifying you your name had been withdrawn from the lists. If you signed the card and returned it, if you were kept in good standing, if you haven't voted in the past two years, and did not return the card, the probabilities are you are not registered.

But if you did not vote within the past two years and have not moved since the last election, your registration is good. If you have moved and have been in your new precinct for sixty days, you can change your address by going to the registration office.

1227 MILITARY BALLOTS IN

The number of military ballots received in the commissioners' office is rising every day. At noon Friday, Miss Louise Micco, who has charge of the receiving the ballots said there were 1227 already back or about 18 per cent of the total of 7,000 military ballots sent out. It begins to look as if Lawrence County men and women in service would vote. Certainly they have been given the opportunity with no inconvenience to themselves.

There are few hours left to get registered to vote. The final day for registration or change of address is Saturday night, October 7, at six o'clock. After that the lists are closed for the November election.

For the accommodation of citizens the Registration Bureau in the Boyles Annex at the court house will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights until 9 o'clock. On Saturday, the last day, the office will close at six o'clock.

There has been a marked increase in registration the past week. Not all of the people presenting themselves at the registration office need to register. Cards have been mailed out to many people advising them they are not registered. In many cases the people have taken the trouble to go to the registration bureau, only to find there is nothing wrong with their registration.

These cards state the registration lists have been checked.

If the statement means the official registration lists it is in error, according to Earl R. Wimer, chairman of the county commissioners and the elections board. "No one has checked the registration lists," said Mr. Wimer. "Where the information was received in the cases where the registrations are valid, I do not know. The card comes from a committee, and does not come from any person connected with the court house. We regret the inconvenience occasioned many voters who made the trip to the court house for nothing, but the matter is one of which we know nothing."

An easy test for any voter who is uncertain as to whether or not he is registered is this, "did you vote within the past two years. If you did not, you got a card in January notifying you your name had been withdrawn from the lists. If you signed the card and returned it, if you were kept in good standing, if you haven't voted in the past two years, and did not return the card, the probabilities are you are not registered.

But if you did not vote within the past two years and have not moved since the last election, your registration is good. If you have moved and have been in your new precinct for sixty days, you can change your address by going to the registration office.

1227 MILITARY BALLOTS IN

The number of military ballots received in the commissioners' office is rising every day. At noon Friday, Miss Louise Micco, who has charge of the receiving the ballots said there were 1227 already back or about 18 per cent of the total of 7,000 military ballots sent out. It begins to look as if Lawrence County men and women in service would vote. Certainly they have been given the opportunity with no inconvenience to themselves.

Forty Hours Close At St. Michael's

Rev. Fr. Martinian, O.F.M., Delivers Sermons At Forty Hours Devotions

Impressive solemn closing of the forty hours devotions at St. Michael's church was held Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Celebrant was Rev. Fr. Edward Pikulik, pastor of the Madonna church; deacon, Rev. Fr. Ignatius Koller of St. Mary's church; and deacon, Rev. Fr. John M. Unger of St. Joseph's church.

Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik, pastor of St. Michael's church, was master of ceremonies.

The litany of the saints was chanted with Rev. Fr. Albert M. Innes of St. Vitus and Rev. Fr. Charles Pibick of Donora, Pa., as the chanters.

The Eucharistic procession was held and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament brought the services to a close. Other priests assisted in the sanctuary. Rev. Fr. Martinian, O. F. M., of the Holy Family Monastery, Avalon, Pa., gave the sermons throughout the devotions.

Forty hours devotions started Friday morning at 10 o'clock and services continued Saturday and Sunday.

Injured Gridder Keeps Up Record For Attendance

Anthony "Buzzer" Panella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Panella, Sr., of 22 Bank street, New Castle, star left-half of the New Castle High football team, is on crutches today but still he is in school at Seneca High.

The popular young gridder who fractured a tibia in the left leg in the game at Sharon last Friday during the second period, has never missed a day of school in his life and the mere fact that he had to hobble to Seneca High with the aid of crutches could not stop him or make him break his fine record.

Whether or not Panella who is a Junior B in school will be able to play football again, this season is problematic, but he will be out again next year. Panella is also a track star, being a sprinter of note but will probably not take part in track next spring.

Congregationalists Go To Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Griff Thomas of 107 Park avenue and Rev. and Mrs. Thomas J. Jones of 100 East Reynolds street will leave Tuesday morning for Pittsburgh to attend the fall session of the association of Congregational-Christians churches of western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The session will convene Tuesday and Wednesday, October 3 and 4, at the Duquesne Heights Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are delegates from the local First Congregational church. Rev. Jones, who is the local pastor, is moderator of the association and will preside at all sessions.

The main speaker at the association will be Dr. Mary Cushman, renowned missionary to India.

General Strike In Detroit Area Will Cripple War Plants

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(INS)—A general strike of skilled workers in all Detroit plants will be threatened today unless the War Labor board takes immediate action on restoring wage differentials between tool and die makers and skilled maintenance workers in the Detroit area.

The threat was made by a UAW-CIO spokesman who said a special meeting of the maintenance, construction and power house workers council, UAW-CIO, has been called for tonight to discuss the city-wide strike.

The spokesman refused to give his name, he said, because of the no-strike pledge.

The strike would close vital war plants in the Detroit area, from Willow Run in Ypsilanti to the Chrysler tank arsenal.

For efficient work in the kitchen, the storage space at each work center should accommodate all the materials used there, within comfortable reach, without waste space, and without unnecessary handling of equipment.

Chicago Police Given Problem

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(INS)—The problem of finding 10 stolen steers among the thousands of cattle which arrive at the Union Stockyards each day confronted Chicago police today.

A long distance phone call from Sheriff Tim Phelan of Mason City, Iowa, to Sgt. John Kirby of the detective bureau, asked his help in locating the animals which were rustled from an Iowa farm.

For aid in the search, Sheriff Phelan described the steers as eight red and white faced animals, one weighing 800 pounds, and a bull weighing 1100 pounds.

'Rover Boys' Are Now War Factor In Italian Area

By FRANK CONNIE

U. S. Staff Correspondent

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY Oct. 2—Believe it or not, but the Rover boys have gone to war.

As a matter of fact, they are playing an important role in the Fifth Army's attempt to crush the Germans.

They are the latest wrinkle in close-up support given the ground forces by the U. S. Air Force. "Rover Boys" is the code name applied to mountain-top observers who direct tactical bombers to objectives within a short distance of the Yankee lines.

Pin-point direction enables the planes to drop explosives within the "bomb line" without endangering American troops.

I visited a "Rover Joe" today at his post atop a peak commanding several miles of surrounding terrain. The place was breathtakingly beautiful but Rover Joe had no time for scenery.

Planes Ask Directions
I listened into the headphones as passing planes asked directions. Then they went on and unloaded their bombs. I heard pilots cry out with satisfaction and report back: "Rover Joe, we hit the bull-eye." A little later they would roar overhead on the way home.

Rover Joe as I met him—was really two persons. Lieut. Martin McGilvery of Marshville, N. C. took turns with Lieut. Harry Williams, of Overton, Tex., in relaying information to the fliers.

I hardly adjusted the headphones when four P-47s loomed overhead. The lead pilot said: "Rover Joe, have you a target for us?" McGilvery replied:

"Fello Doughboy, your target is the town of Sassoleone. German guns are firing there and troops are moving. Bomb and strafe the hell out of them."

The planes droned away, becoming specks in the distance. Finally our planes arrived over Sassoleone. I couldn't see the target but a triumphant pilot's voice over the headphones announced that the Nazis had "had it." Then he added: "We bombed hell out of them. Now we are going in to give them a taste of our machine-guns." It was like that all afternoon.

Accuses Democrats Of Payroll Loading

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Sen. G. Harold Watkins of Frankville, Republican candidate for auditor general, accused the New Deal today of "loading" the Federal payroll in Pennsylvania in an apparent attempt to capture the state in the general election.

"The Roosevelt administration has loaded the Federal payroll with 200,000 employees with a view to influencing the election outcome," Watkins declared in a statement.

Local Democrats Talk With Wallace

Members of a party of Democrats of Ellwood City and New Castle were among the many persons who talked with Henry A. Wallace during his visit to Pittsburgh on Saturday, September 30.

Sam Neff of Ellwood City found the vice-president "especially interested in the trends of thought among workers." Also among those who met Mr. Wallace after his speech at the Carnegie Music hall Saturday evening were a group of students from Westminster college.

To Gather Clothing For Another Week

Rev. Thomas J. Jones of the First Congregational church states that the response to the call for clothing for the people of devastated areas of England, Wales, and Scotland has been splendid.

It has been decided to continue the collection for another week. Mrs. Carl Turner and Mrs. Rachel Long are in charge of the collection. Clothes should be brought to the First Congregational church, East Reynolds street.

Women interested in station job assignment and choice of service command must enlist in the Women's Army Corps before the first of November, 1944. A girl who enlists now can choose her own service command, and can choose any post camp or station in this service command requesting a WAC with her particular qualifications.

More Than 2,500 Robot Bombs Were Shot Out Of Sky

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—The London radio reported today that more than 2,500 German robot bombs were shot from the skies before they could strike the London area during the height of the buzz-bomb attacks.

The British broadcast, monitored by CBS, added that German engineers had not intended the robot motors to cut out before the bombs landed.

The sudden silencing of the robot motors before their final dive gave warning which saved the lives of hundreds of persons during the greatest blitzes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Dr. Edward A. Rumely, executive secretary of the committee for constitutional government, was indicted today by a district grand jury on a charge of ignoring a government subpoena.

Rumely was subpoenaed to appear before the committee investigating campaign expenditures. He appeared before the committee but refused to disclose records of contributors. He contended that the house committee had no authority to investigate his organization which he said was non-political.

Rumely also charged that the committee's request was unconstitutional.

Council Does Not Agree With Plan

Would Have City Pay Instructors; Classes Would Pay For Swimming Lessons

Although a recommendation presented by the city recreation board concerning proposed swimming classes for women and girls at George Washington junior high school has not officially come before city council it was indicated today that the proposal was not favored.

The recreation board, according to a letter signed by C. M. Shira and Mrs. A. H. Boiland, has resolved that the board accept the offer of the school board concerning the Washington pool.

It would have the city employ an instructor at $150 an hour and an assistant at 70 cents an hour.

The recreation board resolution would provide that two classes of 20 members each (beginners and advanced swimmers) be conducted two evenings each week. The classes would be principally for women adults and girls from business and industry. Each would have to present a health certificate and pay a fee of $2.50 for 12 swimming lessons.

"The recreational council has made this recommendation in an endeavor to provide some recreation for women and expect the activity to be largely, if not entirely, self-supporting," the board's letter stated.

The money to pay for the instructor and attendant would come out of city recreation appropriation.

Council indicated it did not take kindly to the idea.

Among Leading Teams
Out Of Picture
Already

Fresh from an 18-7 triumph over Duke's Blue Devils, Pennsylvania looked forward today to Saturday's tilt with Dartmouth and the possibility of a clean sweep of the 1944 season.

Temple smashed Swarthmore 34 to 12 last Friday while Villanova's ball carriers primed for the Season's contest by handing Franklin and Marshall a 14-6 lacing at Lancaster State Plays Navy.

A well-worn squad of Pitt Panthers, licking their wounds following a 58-0 spanking by Notre Dame takes on Little Bethany Saturday and may ring up a victory.

Penn State's eleven, which calmly passed out a 38-13 drubbing to Muhlenberg, will travel to Annapolis in an attempt to scuttle the Navy. The sailors were defeated 21-14 by North Carolina pre-Flight.

Bucknell, with two victories under the belt, meets Franklin and Marshall at Lewisburg Saturday.

A big surprise, although less spectacular, was Indiana's 20 to 0 win over Michigan.

And we're still not through with surprises. The dope was upset once again when Rochester trounced Colgate, 20 to 13.

Irish Smother Pitt
There was another touch of the unexpected in the way Notre Dame rolled over Pittsburgh, 58 to 0. The South Bend boys were supposed to be immeasurably weaker than last year's almost legendary outfit, but had Pitt completely smashed before the second quarter was well under way. It was the worst beating the Panthers have taken since Clark Shughnessy came in as coach a year ago.

As a final surprise we receive Wisconsin's 7 to 6 triumph over Northwestern.

Williams-Basora To Fight Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Jose Basora of Puerto Rico and Holman Williams of Chicago will swap punches tonight in the ten-round feature bout at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

St. Louis Browns Win Pennant In Thrilling Finish

Defeat Yanks As Detroit

Final Games

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—The first American League flag in the 47 year history of the St. Louis Browns is safely tucked away under the belts of Luke Sewell's men today after a campaign which, for suspense and bitter wrangling, is unequalled by anything ever seen in the major leagues.

The cup brimmed over for the underprivileged Browns yesterday when they belted the New York Yankees, 5 to 2, while the Detroit Tigers crumbled under the pressure of the first-place deadlock to fall victim to the last-place Washington Senators, 4 to 1. The largest crowd ever to see a Browns club in action, 37,815, filled St. Louis with a din not couched even in any world series triumph scored by the Browns' opponents in the championship games starting next Wednesday—two rugged and adept St. Louis Cardinals.

Laabs Proves Star
The raggle-taggle outfit wound up third in club fielding and seventh in batting but after being bounced out of first place six times, sank their teeth into the lead and could not be shaken off. Particular objects of the mob's wildly roared acclaim were left-fielder Chet Laabs who smashed two homers in sending his club into the first all-St. Louis series ever played, and the pitcher he backed up so well, Sis Jukucki.

Laabs is a 239 hitter to whom a single was satisfying and a triple a rarity; a east-of who was traded by Detroit in 1939 and generally thought to be an abject failure. Jukucki is a case-hardened soldier who knocked around the minors in different fashion, and has only in this campaign chalked up his first full year in the majors.

The contest in Detroit had more than its share of irony. The well-beaten Senators had been trounced eighteen times in twenty-one starts against the Tigers, and Steve O'Neill's men were dealt a cruel blow in that they not only were soundly thrashed by the Senators, but were outpitched by Dutch Leonard, who went into the game with thirteen wins and fourteen losses.

Swinging briefly to the National League, the pennant-winning Cards, who are a 2 to 1 choice to take the Browns in the intra-city title fray, were beaten by the New York Giants 6 to 5, then gave the Giants a brief but decisive 10 to 6 working-out in six innings.

Pirates Finish Second
A return to the junior leagues shows the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox splitting the Red Sox winning the opener, 3 to 1, on rookie Rex Cecil's five-hitter, and Johnny Humphries, veteran right-hander, leading the White Sox to a 4 to 1 nip-tap victory. The Philadelphia Athletics knocked out the Cleveland Indians twice, 5 to 2 and 5 to 0.

To wind up the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates clinched second place by bashing the Philadelphia Phillies, 9 to 1, in the opener, but lost the afterpiece, 7 to 1.

The Brooklyn Dodgers wound up a dismal season by edging out the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5, as outfielder Dixie Walker hit into the league's bottom crown with a mark of .357.

Germans Seek To Deny Allies Use Of Antwerp

By CHARLES LYNCH
Reuters special correspondent
(Distributed by International News Service)

MONDAY, Oct. 2.—(INS)—German resistance stiffened today all along the 40-mile Canadian Army front east of the Nijmegen wedge of the 2nd British Army.

The Germans are making a determined effort not only to deny the Allies the sea approaches to Antwerp, but also to prevent further widening of the great British salient.

First Canadian Army troops which have reached the Netherlands border in several places north of Turnhout are meeting stiff resistance and it is estimated that the enemy has between 20 and 25 battalions manning the sector from the north of Turnhout to Antwerp.

The Germans are even withdrawing some garrison troops from Walcheren island to help man this line.

With the Germans stiffening it seems certain that hard fighting is in prospect in this sector.

The prisoner count at Calais now is more than 5,000 and the final count is expected to be between 6,000 and 7,000.

STOCK MARKET MOVES HIGHER

Light Selective Buying Appears In Monday Market, Aviation Issues Strong

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—The stock market moved fractionally higher today in light, selective buying. Aviation issues were independently strong, reflecting the prospect that the industry is in line for more big orders for post-war transport planes.

Douglas Aircraft had a gain of a point in the first hour but tapered later when volume dwindled. Boeing sold at 16, up more than a half. Consolidated Vultee and Lockheed were active and higher.

Steels had a strong undertone. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel gained a half point. Motors were unchanged. Rails drifted lower with Santa Fe down a half. Coppers and chemicals improved fractionally. Consolidated Edison and Commonwealth Edison held small gains. Amusements and rail equipments were quiet and firm.

Grain prices weakened a cent a bushel. The bond market moved in a narrow range.

RATS!

JERSEY CITY, (INS)—Jersey City will have to deal with its own rat problem this year unassisted by the county, according to a ruling by the Hudson county board of freeholders. What's more, the situation will have to be dealt with in a hurry because those rats on the city dumps are becoming a public nuisance, even if they don't bother Mayor Frank Hague, who lives a long block away on the twelfth floor.

Some of Uncle Sam's war dogs are fully trained to locate land mines which cannot be detected by the usual mechanical means. The dogs find the mine fields, lead the way around them or point a safe path through them.
